

UF CISE Master's Student Financial Resources

We understand that funding your education is an important aspect of your academic career, and finding financial resources outside of financial aid, such as loans, can be a priority for you. This resource sheet can be used as a guide to help you find ways to finance your time at UF and in Gainesville.

Resources NOT Available to Master's Students

- Research Assistants (RA) and Teaching Assistants (TA) are NOT provided to Master's students. They are only provided to Ph.D. students - no exceptions are made for this.

Work Opportunities

CISE Grader Positions (also called Peer Mentors)

When and as needed, the department will hire graders for classes. To be considered when the application opens, you must have:

- Taken the course hiring for graders and passed with an A,
- Have an overall GPA of 3.7 or higher, with grades of all A's and B's in your CISE courses,
- Strong interpersonal and communication skills, and
- Completed at least one semester as a CISE master's student.

Duties typically include grading assignments, exams, and proctoring exams. A grader is expected to work up to 10 hours a week.

The application for this position will be emailed to all students when available; it will not be sent individually. Do not email asking for the application.

CISE Job Interest Application

The CISE department has developed an interest form for students to submit with their resume and areas of interest that professors can access when looking for potential new hires – no need to email asking for positions!

The Job Interest Application can be found here: <https://go.ufl.edu/cise-student-employment>

On-Campus Jobs

The UF Job Board can be found here: <https://jobs.ufl.edu/>

Students should only be applying for "OPS" and Student Assistant positions. Federal Work Study positions are only available to those who qualify.

Computer Science Related Positions

If the Department is contacted about job/internship opportunities for Computer Science students, we will post them to the "CISE Graduate Blog." Please favorite the blog and check it often!
