

Seeking App Developers of Children's Apps for an Interview

Researchers at the University of Florida are interested to know more about the design and development processes followed by professional developers to develop children's applications. We are seeking interview participants of ages 18 or older to provide insight into the current touchscreen application design process adopted by app developers.

The interview will take between 40 and 60 minutes. Sessions can be scheduled at your convenience. There is no compensation for participation.

Contact the researchers at nsoni2@ufl.edu for more information or to volunteer.

Thank you for your time,
Nikita Soni (Graduate Student)
Lisa Anthony, PhD
UF Computer & Information Science & Engineering (CISE)

UF IRB02#: IRB201701854